

ANTH 1410/UGEC 1835 Culture of Hong Kong

Spring 2023

Lecture: Wed. 12:30-2:15, TC Cheng Bldg., C1

Tutorials: Various: We will largely follow the existing tutorial slots, but we have a degree of flexibility

Tutor: Jad De Guzman, NAH 301, deguzmanjad@link.cuhk.edu.hk

Teacher: Gordon Mathews, NAH 410, cmgordon@cuhk.edu.hk

In this course, we will explore the cultural panorama of Hong Kong from an anthropological perspective. We will examine Hong Kong's Chinese traditional heritage; its colonial legacy; its senses of cultural identity as formed over the past fifty years; ethnic minorities in the city; gender, marriage and family; language and education; religion; consumption; wealth, poverty and housing; migration; and finally Hong Kong culture today and tomorrow, particularly considering Hong Kong's recent upheavals. The basic perspective of the course is that Hong Kong is both a Chinese and a global city in its history and culture, and this class will view Hong Kong from both perspectives, balancing them. The essence of the course is critical thinking: multiple viewpoints will be read about and discussed, and, using all the different readings and discussions in the class, you will be asked to think for yourselves about Hong Kong, China, and the world.

Learning Outcomes

After taking this course, you will be able to

- a) comprehend the cultural complexity of Hong in a wide range of areas;
- b) understand Hong Kong from an anthropological perspective, particularly in terms of Hong Kong cultural identity; and
- c) think more broadly about Hong Kong culture and society past, present, and future

Grading

- 1) interview a Hong Kong person, preferably someone with a different view from yourself, on the question "what does it mean to be a Hongkonger?" (20%): 4 1/2 pages, interview guide handed out Jan. 18; interview and analysis due Feb. 15.
- 2) take-home midterm examination (20%): 4 1/2 pages, handed out March 1, due March 15
- 3) take-home final examination (40%): 9 pages, handed out March 29, due April 26.
- 4) class participation (20%)

The take-home midterm and final examinations will focus on your comprehension of the readings and lectures. These exams will require you to synthesize what you have learned in thinking more deeply about anthropological questions relating to Hong Kong's culture and society.

Required readings are available on Blackboard for all registered students. Students are required by university policy to submit soft copies of all papers to VeriGuide. Check the website <http://www.cuhk.edu.hk/policy/academichonesty/> for how to submit papers through VeriGuide.

Grade Descriptors

A Outstanding performance on all learning outcomes, through work that has creatively synthesized course materials and key ideas, to the extent that you show a truly deep understanding of the course in all its ideas. Your arguments in your work are logical and cohesive, the discussion is well-organized, and the writing is clear. All relevant course materials have been fully utilized in your work, and additional material as well has been used from your own research.

A- Outstanding performance on all learning outcomes, through work that has creatively synthesized course materials and key ideas. Your arguments in your work are logical and cohesive, the discussion is well-organized, and the writing is clear. All relevant course materials have been fully utilized in your work, and perhaps additional material as well from your own research.

B+ Substantial performance on all learning outcomes. Your arguments in your work are largely logical and cohesive, the discussion is generally well-organized, and the writing is clear. Most relevant course materials have been fully utilized in your work. There are areas for improvement with respect to building a cohesive argument, organizing the discussion, communicating clearly, and/or identifying relevant evidence and using all course materials, but by and large you have turned in good, solid work.

B Satisfactory performance on all learning outcomes, OR high performance on some learning outcomes which compensates for less satisfactory performance on others, resulting in overall satisfactory performance. Your arguments in your work are somewhat logical and cohesive, the discussion is somewhat well-organized, and the writing is somewhat clear. Much relevant course materials have been fully utilized in your work. There are areas for improvement with respect to building a cohesive argument, organizing the discussion, communicating clearly, and/or identifying relevant evidence.

B- Adequate performance on all learning outcomes, OR satisfactory performance on some learning outcomes which compensates for less satisfactory performance on others, resulting in overall largely adequate performance. Your arguments in your work are partially logical and cohesive, the discussion is partially organized, and the writing is somewhat clear. Some relevant course materials have been fully utilized in your work. There are areas for improvement with respect to building a cohesive argument, organizing the discussion, communicating clearly, and/or identifying relevant evidence.

C+ Adequate performance on the majority of learning outcomes. Your written work shows some effort, but course materials have not been sufficiently engaged. The argument and the writing is not clear, and/or there is less than full evidence for statements and claims made. There are areas for improvement with respect to building a cohesive argument, organizing the discussion, communicating clearly, and/or identifying relevant evidence.

C, C- Barely adequate performance on a number of learning outcomes. These grade will be awarded to students who have missed a large number of classes and/or have failed to use course materials in their written answers.
